

I want to voice my concerns over the expansion of the LPFM stations. I listen to K-LOVE radio on 90.5 in Albuquerque. This station serves a market that is not otherwise served. There are other Christian radio stations only 88.3 plays all music. That station targets a much narrower audience than KLOVE. I have been a faithful financial supporter of this station for the majority of the time that I have listened. It is the one Christian station that my friends have on while the family is together. There is not a content concern, of any kind. With the problems of offensive material on morning programs by TJ Trout on 94.4 and the morning show on the Peak 100.3 it is the only station that will not have questionable content for small children. By giving LPFM station priority over my local KLOVE station I could lose the only station that I can have on at home and in the car and not think twice about what they are saying.

I applaud the work the FCC is doing to hold the media accountable for the offensive material that is being broadcast over the airways. Please, do not put at risk the only all music Christian radio station that my son and I love and enjoy.

Thank you for taking the time to consider my comments.
